Your rights

31. Under the GDPR and the DPA you have a number of rights with regard to your personal data. You have the right to:
 - a. Request from us access to your personal data (commonly known as a “data subject access request”. This enables you to receive a copy of the personal information we hold about you and to check that we are lawfully processing it.
 - b. Request correction of your personal information. This enables you to have any incomplete or inaccurate information we hold about you corrected.
 - c. Request erasure of your personal information. This enables you to ask us to delete or remove personal information where there is no good reason for us continuing to process it. You also have the right to ask us to delete or remove your personal information where you have exercised your right to object to processing (see below).
 - d. Object to processing of your personal information where we are only relying on our own legitimate interests (or those of a third party) as our basis for doing so, and there is something about your particular situation which makes you want to object to processing on this ground. You also have the right to object if we process your personal information for direct marketing purposes.
 - e. Request the restriction of processing of your personal information. This enables you to ask us to suspend the processing of personal information about you, for example if you want us to establish its accuracy or the reason for processing it.
 - f. Request the transfer of your personal information to another party.
32. If you wish to exercise or find out more about any of these rights, including if you wish to make a subject access request, you should contact our Data Protection Officer using the contact details set out at the end of this document. Documentation will be shared in an electronic format. You will not have to pay a fee to access your personal information or to exercise any of the other rights. However, we may charge a reasonable fee if your request for access is clearly unfounded, excessive or if hard copies are requested. Alternatively, we may refuse to comply with the request in such circumstances. We may also need to request specific information from you to help us confirm your identity and ensure your right to access the information. This is another appropriate security measure to ensure that personal information is not disclosed to any person who has no right to receive it.
33. Right to withdraw consent: In the limited circumstances where you may have provided consent for the collection, processing and transfer of your data for specific purposes, you have the right to withdraw that consent at any time which will not affect the lawfulness of the processing before your consent was withdrawn. To withdraw your consent, please contact the Data Protection Officer. Once we have received notification that you have withdrawn your consent, we will no longer process your information for the purpose or purposes you originally agreed to, unless we have another legitimate basis for doing so in law.

34. You have the right to lodge a complaint to the Information Commissioners' Office if you believe that we have not complied with the requirements of data protection law with regard to your personal data.
